

Capitol Specialty Ins. Corp. v. Higgins, 953 F.3d 95 (1st Cir. 2020)

RELATED ATTORNEYS

Peter C. Netburn

November 29, 2020

The United States Court of Appeals for the First Circuit rejected using a stipulated consent judgment from an underlying tort case as the basis for a bad faith damages award against the tortfeasor's liability insurer.